

Here is what attendees at Perry's sessions are saying

"The first night I went home I talked my husband's ear off about it!"

"You had my attention the whole time throughout the entire 2 days"

"I was so impressed I immediately took this home to my family"

"Perry was great and his common sense approach to safety made it real for me"

Perry has a unique ability to bring humor into safety in a way that both captivates his audience and inspires "out of the box" thinking.

As past Chair of the Eastern Iowa Safety Roundtable and long time member of the ASSE, Perry brings over 15 years of training and consulting in the fields of environmental, asbestos, hazardous waste, respiratory protection, chemical awareness, commercial vehicle inspection and chemical right-to-know, to the table. His real passion, however, is focusing on the people. He is driven to speaking across the country with his message of safety awareness with a particular interest in improving injury statistics on the road and at home.

Perry's sessions are both informative and wildly entertaining. He has a unique ability to bring humor into safety in a way that both captivates his audience and inspires "out of the box" thinking. Participants will benefit from his certification as a trainer with the National Environmental Trainer's Association as well as experience gained as a faculty member at Kirkwood Community College Environmental Training Center.

As a member of the SafeStart – SafeTrack Consulting group, Perry has more experience with city and municipality personnel than any of our consultants and trainers. During his tenure with the City of Cedar Rapids, Perry can be seen in the SafeStart Overview video offering video testimonial of both the significant injury reductions as well as cost savings that he experienced after he implemented the SafeStart program.
