

Here is what attendees at Shayne's sessions are saying

"Held my attention from start to finish."

"Good speaker – made the subject very interesting with stories and personal experiences."

"Great presentation!!!"

"Excellent speaker – great humor"

"Shayne kept the participants on the edge of their seats, in anticipation of what was coming next, for the entire day!"

Shayne is a Carleton University graduate with many years of experience in a wide variety of industries before joining Electrolab Training Systems in 1997.

He has facilitated the implementation of behavior based safety programs for a variety of industries, including offshore oil and gas projects, the American (multi-lingual) beef and pork industries, plastics, automotive, railway, construction, hotel, forest products, shipping and mining industries. Most recently, Shayne worked with North East Utilities of Connecticut.

Shayne's dynamic delivery of information, workshop facilitation as well as his presence on panel discussions is enhanced by his 6 years in broadcasting as an on-air host.

Additionally, Shayne is capable of speaking in French and Spanish.
